

MASTERCLASS: WORLD BUILDING

World building is fundamental to the arts, media and entertainment industries. It encompasses not just the look of an environment but the characters inside it and the items included within it, in order to create believability and emotional resonance that impacts a specific audience. This masterclass offers students the opportunity to think critically, and to design and build a world through different specific disciplines, including animation, games design, sound design, filmmaking, creative technologies or photography.

If you would like to book this workshop please do fill out our booking form and a member of our team will be in touch!
